The Gujarat National Law University, Gandhinagar, is one of the premier National Law Schools in India, which has contributed towards transforming legal education into professional education in the real sense of the term.

To further the objective of knowledge sharing and dissemination among the legal fraternity and to appreciate the creative talent, the GNLU Law Review Association launched the flagship law review of the University, 'The GNLU Law Review' (TGLR). The Law Review is being published biannually under the supervision and guidance of its Advisory Panel comprised of eminent legal luminaries.

The Inaugural Issue of the Law Review contained articles from members from the bar and the bench, academicians, professionals and law students from both within India and abroad. The same was being released in the hands of Hon'ble Mr. Justice K.S. Radhakrishnan, Chief Justice, High Court of Gujarat.

The GNLU Law Review is pleased to announce Call for Papers for its Second Issue from scholars, academicians, researchers and law students from both India and abroad.

The submissions may be on any contemporary national or international legal issue in English language. The same may be submitted under the heads of Comments and Notes. The prescribed word limit for Comments and Notes is 4000 words and 7000 words respectively. The citation method should strictly be in accordance with 'The GNLU Law Review Style Guide', available on the website.

For details on submission of manuscripts, please refer to the Editorial Policy available online. All submissions must be accompanied by an abstract of 350 words. The submissions are required be e-mailed in MS-Word format at tglr@gnlu.org.in

The deadline for submissions is January 05, 2009.

For any further clarifications, please feel free to revert at tglr@gnlu.org.in.
