GNLU Launches Latest Book on “Banking Law and Negotiable Instruments Act”

Dear Sir/Madam,

Greetings from GNLU!

GNLU in pursuance of continuous strive towards achieving excellence and provide the best academic growth, GNLU launched a Book entitled “Banking Law and Negotiable Instruments Act” at an event held during the ongoing event of Faculty Development Programme (FDP) on 4th November 2015 which is being organized by GNLU. The book was unveiled by Former Judge of Supreme Court of India, Justice C.K Thakker in the presence of Prof. (Dr.) Bimal N. Patel. This book is authored by Prof. (Dr.) Bimal N. Patel, Director of GNLU, Dr. Dolly Jabbal, Former Registrar-in-charge of GNLU, and Dr. Prachi V. Motiyani.

The book has been published by the Eastern Book Company and is an endeavour to provide a very precise, clear and a thorough study of precedents. This book covers a wide range of topics including the Banking Regulation Act, 1949 and the most recent trends of e-banking in India. The book in its lucid style also covers the various sections of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881. The book serves as a ready reckoner on various topics of Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 and fully covers the banking law syllabus of law schools, Judicial Services, IBPS specialist officers and various other banking examinations. The book is also designed to meet the requirement of students of law, commerce and finance, practicing lawyers as well as policy makers.

The foreword of the book is penned by Justice C. K. Thakker where he emphasizes on the writing style and value of the book. His words may be quoted as, “Lucid writing style and a thorough study of precedents makes this book an essential reference for any lawyer, law or commerce student or even a banking practitioner”

Justice Thakker also graced the FDP by delivering an extensive lecture on Administrative Laws. GNLU extends heartiest congratulations to the Director, Prof. (Dr.) Bimal N. Patel for his book publication.
