

Gujarat National Law University hosts Alumni Meet in New Delhi

Gandhinagar, Dec 02, 2019: Gujarat National Law University (GNLU) hosted an Alumni Meet at New Delhi on November 30, 2019.

The University boasts of a strong and vibrant alumni community, consisting of very accomplished legal professionals across the country and abroad. The Alumni Meet at Delhi saw a very enthusiastic response. Over 150 alumni based in and around Delhi attended the meet.

The Alumni Meet provided a wonderful opportunity for GNLU alumni to re-connect and reminisce with their batch mates, seniors, and juniors from their time at the University. The evening was also graced by the presence of the Director, Dr Sanjeevi Shanthakumar, the Registrar, Dr Jagadeesh Chandra, and faculty from the institution.

In pursuance of its mission to strengthen the alumni community and celebrate their achievements, GNLU plans to hold similar alumni meets at Bengaluru (December 08), Hyderabad (December 15) and Kolkatta (December 21).

"It's a great opportunity for the alumni to rekindle old friendships, foster growth of new relationships, network over our shared experiences, and professionally assist the ones seeking guidance."

Aman Raj Gandhi, Partner, Wadia Ghandy & Co (Batch of 2005-10)

"Gujarat National Law University was the place where I made some of my best memories. I'm eagerly awaiting to go back in time and relive those days once again with the past and present of GNLU."

Rajendra Beniwal, Partner, Karma Law Associate (Batch of 2009-14)

“It’s a humbling experience to look back on where I started this journey with law. I’m looking forward to meeting familiar faces and reconnect with brilliant minds my colleagues have turned into.”

Sushant Chandra, Assistant Professor, Jindal Global law school (Batch of 2006-11)

“This alumni meet will inspire a synergy between great minds of the present and future of GNLU.”

Animesh Kumar, Metropolitan Magistrate, Delhi Judicial Service (Batch of 2009-14)

“Getting through GNLU was a turning point in my life. Thanks to CLAT, GNLU is a melting pot of people with different thought cultures and problem-solving approaches. The atmosphere is charged with an energy which promotes free thinking and logical analysis. My five years in GNLU really honed the skill of original thought in me- a rare quality in today's world of easy answers and dimming originality thanks to online overdose. GNLU also has the locational advantage of Gujarat. It is difficult to stay in the state for five years and remain untouched by its entrepreneurial spirit and sheer zest for life. The academic and extracurricular calendar of the university even motivated an unambitious teenager like me to buck up in life and contribute to enhancing the quality of legal and policy practice in India. Needless to say, dear GNLU, thank you.”

Anuroop Omkar, Mediator, The World Bank (Batch of 2007-12)

“Though my life has changed a lot in the past decade- from my time in GNLU to now. But what hasn’t changed is my regard for the university, the faculty, the relationships I built, and the lessons I learnt there. It would be a pleasure to share my journey with my colleagues and my juniors and also be a part of theirs.”

Rajul Bohra, Partner, J. Sagar Associates (Batch of 2005-10)

“GNLU offered a unique experience of living in a culturally and regionally diverse society. Now that we’re spread across the globe, the alumni meet is enabling us to diversify our horizons.”

Deepika Murali, DM Law Chambers (Batch of 2005-10)
