5TH GNLU INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON LAW, ECONOMICS AND PUBLIC POLICY

The subject of 'Law & Economics' or 'Economic Analysis of Law' is concerned with the interface between the subjects of Law & Economics. It permits the greater use of economic tools and concepts to examine and understand the law in addition to recognising the importance of law to the analysis of the economy.

Today, the field of Law & Economics has expanded and transformed subjects such as property, contracts, torts, criminal law and procedure, constitutional law, administrative law, environmental law, family law, etc. Moreover, with further restrictions around the world due to COVID-19, economic policies have evolved impacting major sectors. This calls for a general theme of law and economics for this International Conference. The inherent advantage of this field is that its objective nature permits the legal system to function rationally and more efficiently.

The objective of this conference is to provide an open forum for discussion and discourse on various aspects of law and economics. As a discipline, we see that law and economics is applicable across fields, and has proved to be an extremely beneficial tool for analysis of policies in such areas. With this edition of the conference, we broaden the horizon for discussions by including the 'public policy' element within the existing realm. And, thus envisage greater engagement and academic discussions across multiple subject areas.
